Title: The Menace of Plastic Pollution

By: Priya

Plastic has seamlessly woven itself into the fabric of our daily lives, but at a catastrophic cost. From choked oceans to poisoned soil, plastic pollution has emerged as one of the gravest threats to our planet. Non-biodegradable plastics linger for centuries, wreaking havoc on marine and terrestrial ecosystems alike.

The primary culprit is our over-reliance on single-use plastics. While convenience drives consumer behavior, the aftermath is devastating. Animals ingest microplastics, entering the food chain and posing severe health hazards to humans as well.

Curbing this crisis requires a collective resolve. Governments must strictly enforce bans on polythene bags, while citizens must switch to sustainable alternatives like cloth bags and steel bottles. Remember, small changes today will safeguard our tomorrow. Refuse plastic, protect the Earth.

Subject: Growing Menace of Stray Animals on City Roads

Sir/Madam,

Through the columns of your esteemed newspaper, I wish to draw the attention of the municipal authorities toward the alarming increase in stray animals on major city roads.

Lately, cattle and stray dogs roaming freely have become a major hazard for commuters, frequently causing traffic snarls and severe accidents, particularly at night. Despite multiple complaints, no concrete action has been witnessed on the ground.

It is high time the authorities set up dedicated cattle-rearing shelters, run mass vaccination and sterilization drives for stray dogs, and impose penalties on owners abandoning their cattle. Prompt action will save precious lives.

Yours sincerely,
Aman / Amita
